Brumlovka has the first 100% electric fleet of buses in Prague

The shuttle service between the Budějovická and Brumlovka metro stations on line C is 100% electric. A pair of SOR electric buses has been in operation since February 2016, and a third electric bus started running in September this year.

The reliable emission-free vehicles have covered over 300,000 kilometres in more than 7 years and have already covered enough distance to take them around the world eight times. These are the first free electric buses to have been put into full operation in Prague's public transport system. Passengers especially appreciate the quiet and smooth ride and the free Wi-Fi connection.

Travelling with children

When: Wednesday, November 8, from 5:30 p.m.

Where: Sommellerie wine bar, shop arcade of the Filadelfie Building
(Želetavská 1525/1, Prague 4)

Speaker: Jana Wolfová

Many people believe that travelling the world ends the moment you have children. Jana Wolfová shows you that this does not have to be the case. With her husband and three children now, they have travelled through many countries around the world in a tent, in a van or even on foot.

They will show you how to travel with children to countries such as New Zealand, Reunion, Iceland, Indonesia, Slovenia or even the USA or Tanzania. Kids may change the way you travel and perhaps narrow down your choice of destinations, but they make these trips all the more adventurous and full of experiences.

Martin Němec: Night Bath

When: From 30 October to 24 November 2023

Where: Alpha Building, Vyskočilova 1461/2a

Martin Němec graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts in the studio of Professor Jan Smetana (Group 42). He has been continuously engaged in painting and music all his life. His artwork is very diverse and specific but could probably be described as surrealistic. His paintings are mostly figurative and show the artist's interest in existential issues.

The current exhibition is a kind of cross-section of Němec's rich oeuvre. It presents both his paintings influenced by traditional Christian motifs and, for example, a series of erotically playful works on paper from the last two years.

The leitmotif of the exhibition is his image Night Bath, symbolising the confrontation of human existence in the context of the eternity of the universe - finitude and infinity.

Sommellerie: St. Martin's Day wines

This year you can once again look forward to the increasingly popular St. Martin's Day and the first young wines at SOMMELLERIE.

This year promises truly interesting St. Martin's Day wines. We'll know exactly what they're like and how many there are after the evaluation, but given the good season, we can already expect them to be lighter and with a lower alcohol content. The reds will be soft, velvety and very drinkable thanks to the warm August. The white and rosé wines will then be less acidic than last year and will be complemented by a light fruitiness.

As the 11th of November falls on a Saturday, SOMMELLERIE will be launching the sale of these wines at 11 a.m. on Thursday 9 November, and there will of course be the traditional goose tasting.
